Purpose:

This symposium will showcase religious and community organizations that are working to address unmet needs. It is designed to stimulate discussion and creative strategies for developing partnerships among and between various organizations to address the growing number of unmet needs of seniors and their families. The symposium will feature:

- ❖ Keynote speaker Reverend Timothy A. White, Chairman, Quincy Area Partnership for Unmet Needs and Pastor, Trinity United Church of Christ, Quincy, Illinois

The Quincy Area Partnership for Unmet Needs compliments the social service system by compassionately responding through networking and collaborative funding provided by individual agencies, churches, and human service organizations to meet the needs of individuals in the Quincy, IL community that may exceed the limits of any one agency.

- ❖ Panel presentations of organizations in South Carolina that are addressing needs such as emergency financial assistance, food insecurity, home repair and transportation.
- ❖ Breakout sessions to develop strategies for partnerships in your community.

“Church and Community: United to Serve” is a statewide symposium designed to stimulate partnerships to address the growing unmet needs of seniors and their families.

South Carolina seniors need your help!

The program features:

- Outstanding panel presentations
